

Dear Patients,

Thesecondopinion has existed for over 50 years, and supporting our cancer community has always been front and center. Unfortunately, due to the COVID-19 crisis, our office is currently closed. We are able to work remotely, however, hospitals and offices don't currently have the manpower or ability to provide us with medical records in a timely fashion. As our live tumor panels rely on volunteer physicians and appropriate charts, imaging and pathology reports to provide accurate and reliable second opinions to our patients, we deeply regret that we won't be able to schedule any full Panel Reviews for new patients at this time. Patients who already have a scheduled appointment will be served via a phone call or a written review, as determined by our Medical Director.

If you have questions please email mail@thesecondopinion.org

These are challenging and uncertain times for everyone. Please know that we plan to resume our services as soon as it's feasible. In the meantime, we will keep your requests on file and notify you when our services resume.

Let's continue to support one another and stay strong together.
